

The image shows a sophisticated casino lounge. The ceiling is a large, circular, multi-colored stained-glass or mosaic design. A large, ornate wicker chandelier hangs from the center. In the foreground, there are several plush, dark leather armchairs arranged around a circular table. In the background, a red roulette table is visible, surrounded by more chairs. The overall atmosphere is elegant and high-end.

OVERVIEW

Chef Chris Santos has over twenty years of experience honing his culinary craft as an executive chef in New York City's hottest restaurants.

In 2005, Chef Santos introduced the world to his unique brand of communal dining with his debut restaurant, The Stanton Social. Inspired by Santos's own world travels, The Stanton Social's multi-cultural menu, designed for sharing, made for experiential dining as entertaining as it was delicious. The New York Times praised Santos's innovative talent for tweaking traditional classics with an "infectious playfulness."

In December 2010, Chef Santos welcomed Beauty & Essex to the Lower East Side. With an actual pawnshop entrance, the design transformed a turn-of-the-century townhouse into a seductive, bi-level restaurant and lounge. Beauty & Essex was named OpenTable's Hottest Restaurant in America in both 2012 and 2013.

Throughout his career, Santos has appeared as a guest chef on NBC's Today Show, CBS's Early Show, The Martha Stewart Show, and The Rachael Ray Show. Most famously, he is a resident judge on the Food Network's most popular hit series, "Chopped," and he has recently become a City Harvest board member. Santos has served as a repeat guest chef at The White House and Camp David, and has been a brand ambassador for Jägermeister and Morningstar Farms.
